Inspired by imagination and crafted by vision, this four bedroom home in Seaview Park, a gated estate on the foothills of Mount Kulburn is as unique as it is functional.

Etched in lower levels of a sloping block, on the easterly side of the hill, and shaded from the afternoon's western sun, the owners used a large granite boulder as the design centrepiece.

With a view to creating a lifestyle that took full advantage of the location, and position, the owners designed an infinity pool which sits under the granite feature, from which a waterfall cascades down into the pool.

The home offers a multitude of features and exceptional finish :

- Sliding doors to bigger than normal patio
